Advertising formats

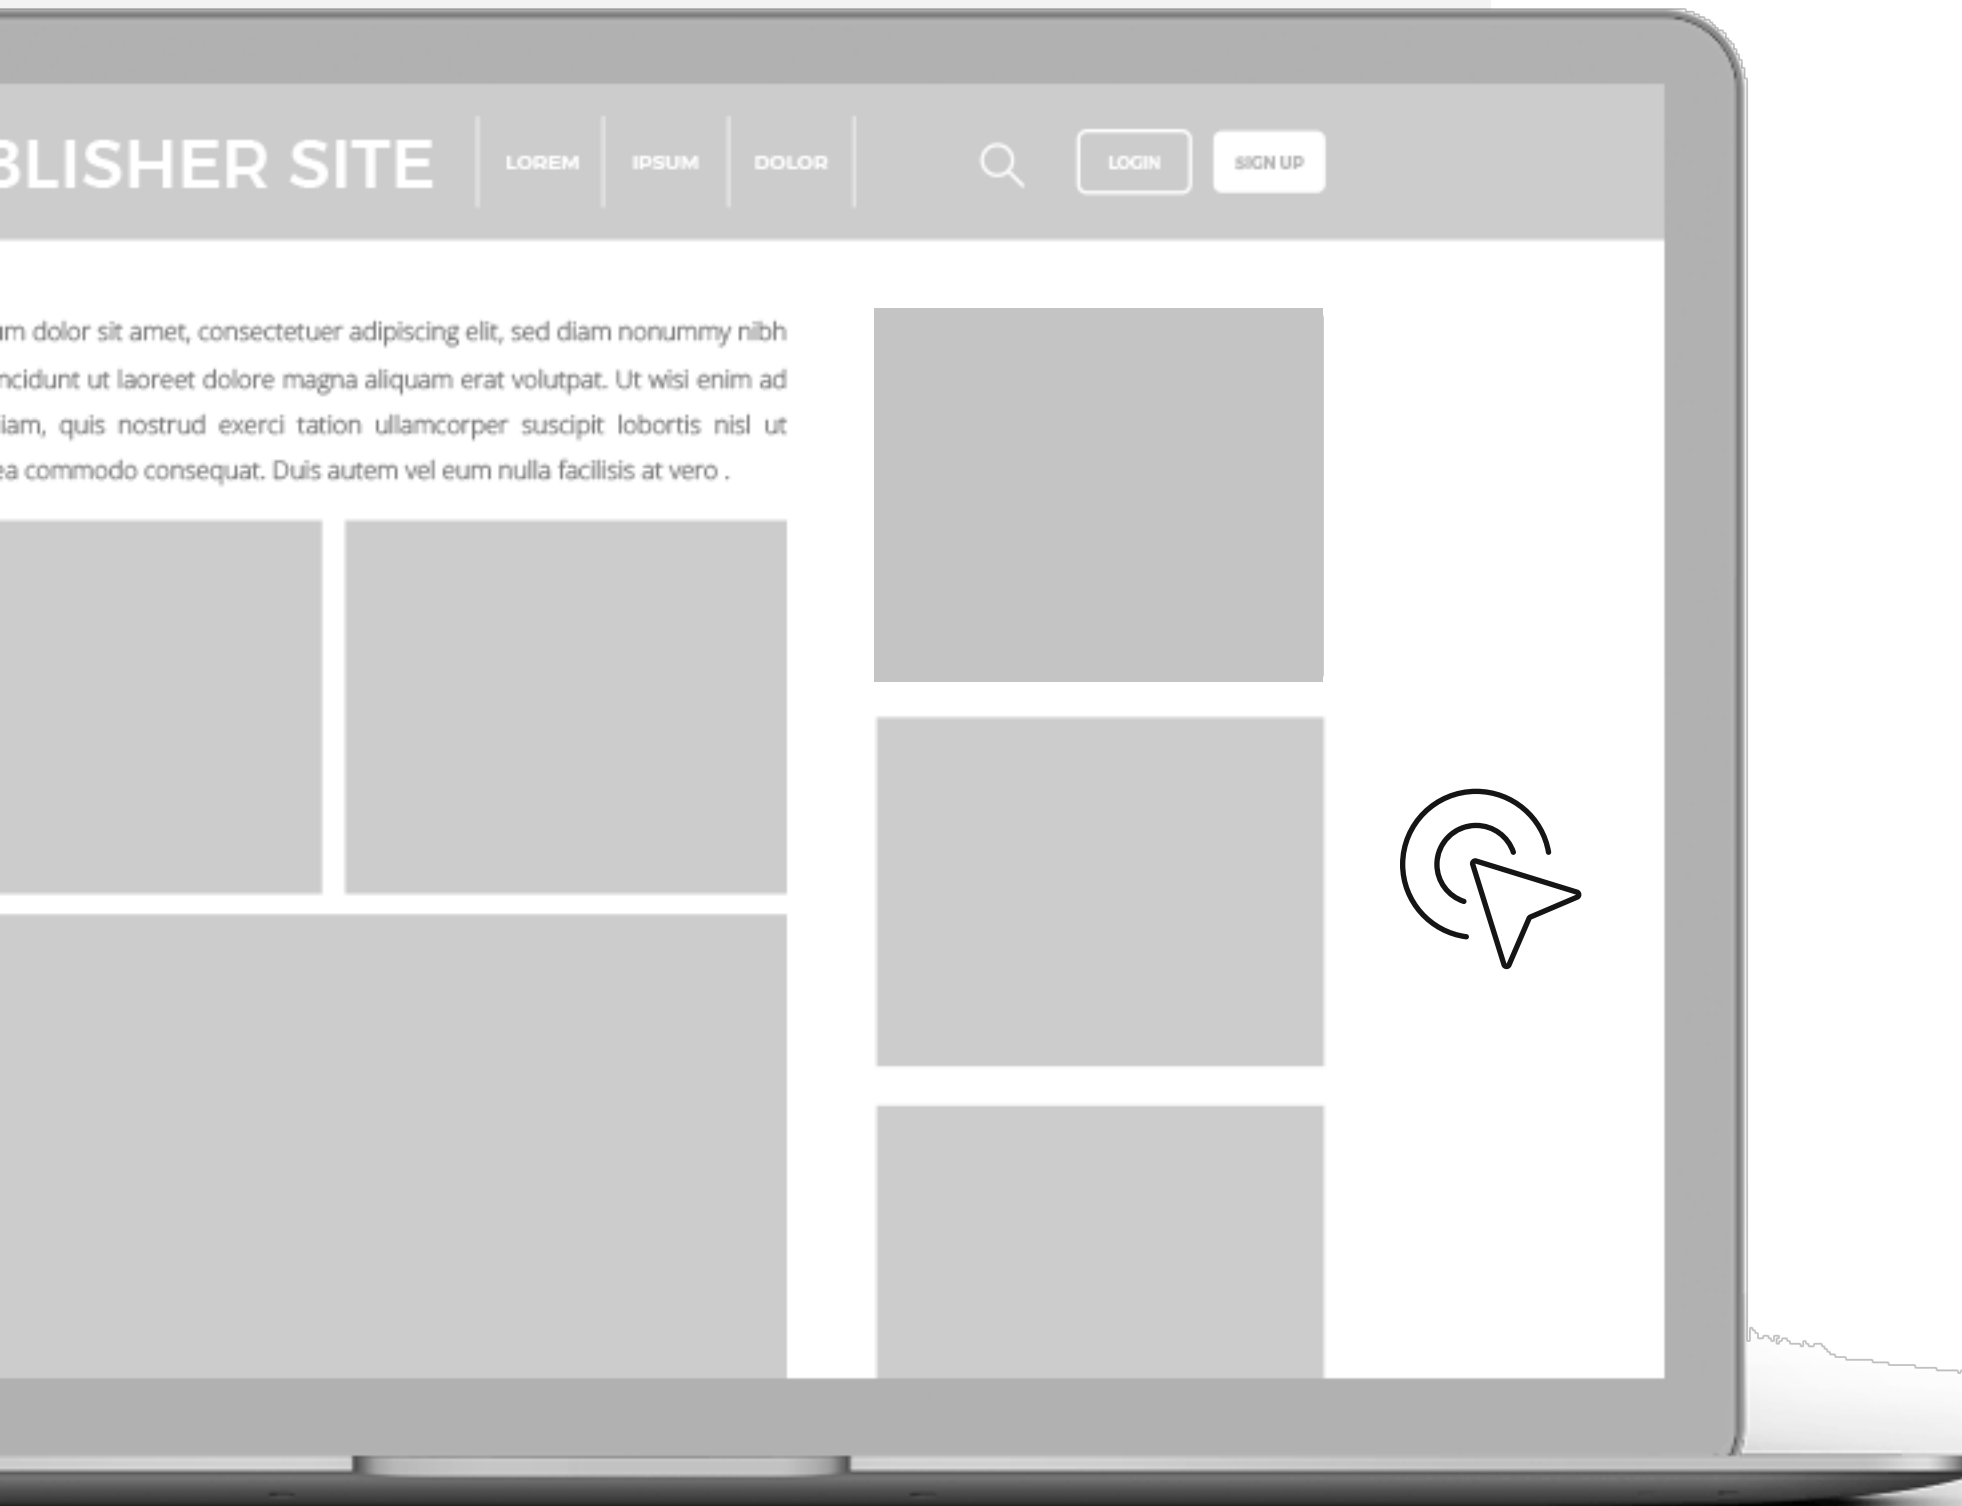

Banners

Traditional display ads placed on different parts of the publisher's sites. It can be next to video, inside the video, in the header or footer of the site as well as blended with the rest of the content.

We work with most popular sizes for banners which are adjustable to the type of devices on mobile or desktop

Skimmed

Is a full page ad which opens when the user clicks on the thumbnail on the publisher's site and get redirected to the landing page of the advertiser

In such a way your landing page appears in front of the broad targeted audience. Trafficshop is Nm1 network for skimmed traffic

Native display ads

Native display banners look like a part of the content of the publisher's site and are distributed to an audience in a way that does not disrupt the native user experience thus having better engagement and performance.

The creatives include text (title and description) and graphic part and are fully responsive on all types of devices.

Popunder

Powerful cross-platform full page advertising unit which is a perfect way to bring attention to your product using a call to action landing page or taking users directly to your site.

The pop under ad opens behind the main browser window when the user performs a click on publisher's site.
